ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

09/44/9625

A method of manufacturing a radiation image conversion panel, in which a stimulable phosphor-containing coating solution that contains at least a stimulable phosphor and a binder is applied to a support such that a film thickness of the coated stimulable phosphor-containing coating solution is uniform and is 100 µm or more.